He said that if I went out with friends he would leave and I would become a single mother. He didn't let me play softball which is my favorite sport. He called my two best friends whores. The reason we broke up was because he ripped one of my crop tops while I was wearing it, saying I was a whore for wearing it and that I should go to the party naked.

He had my password for my Facebook and phone. Once, 15 minutes after I went out with friends he sent me a voicenote of my kid crying saying she wanted her mother.

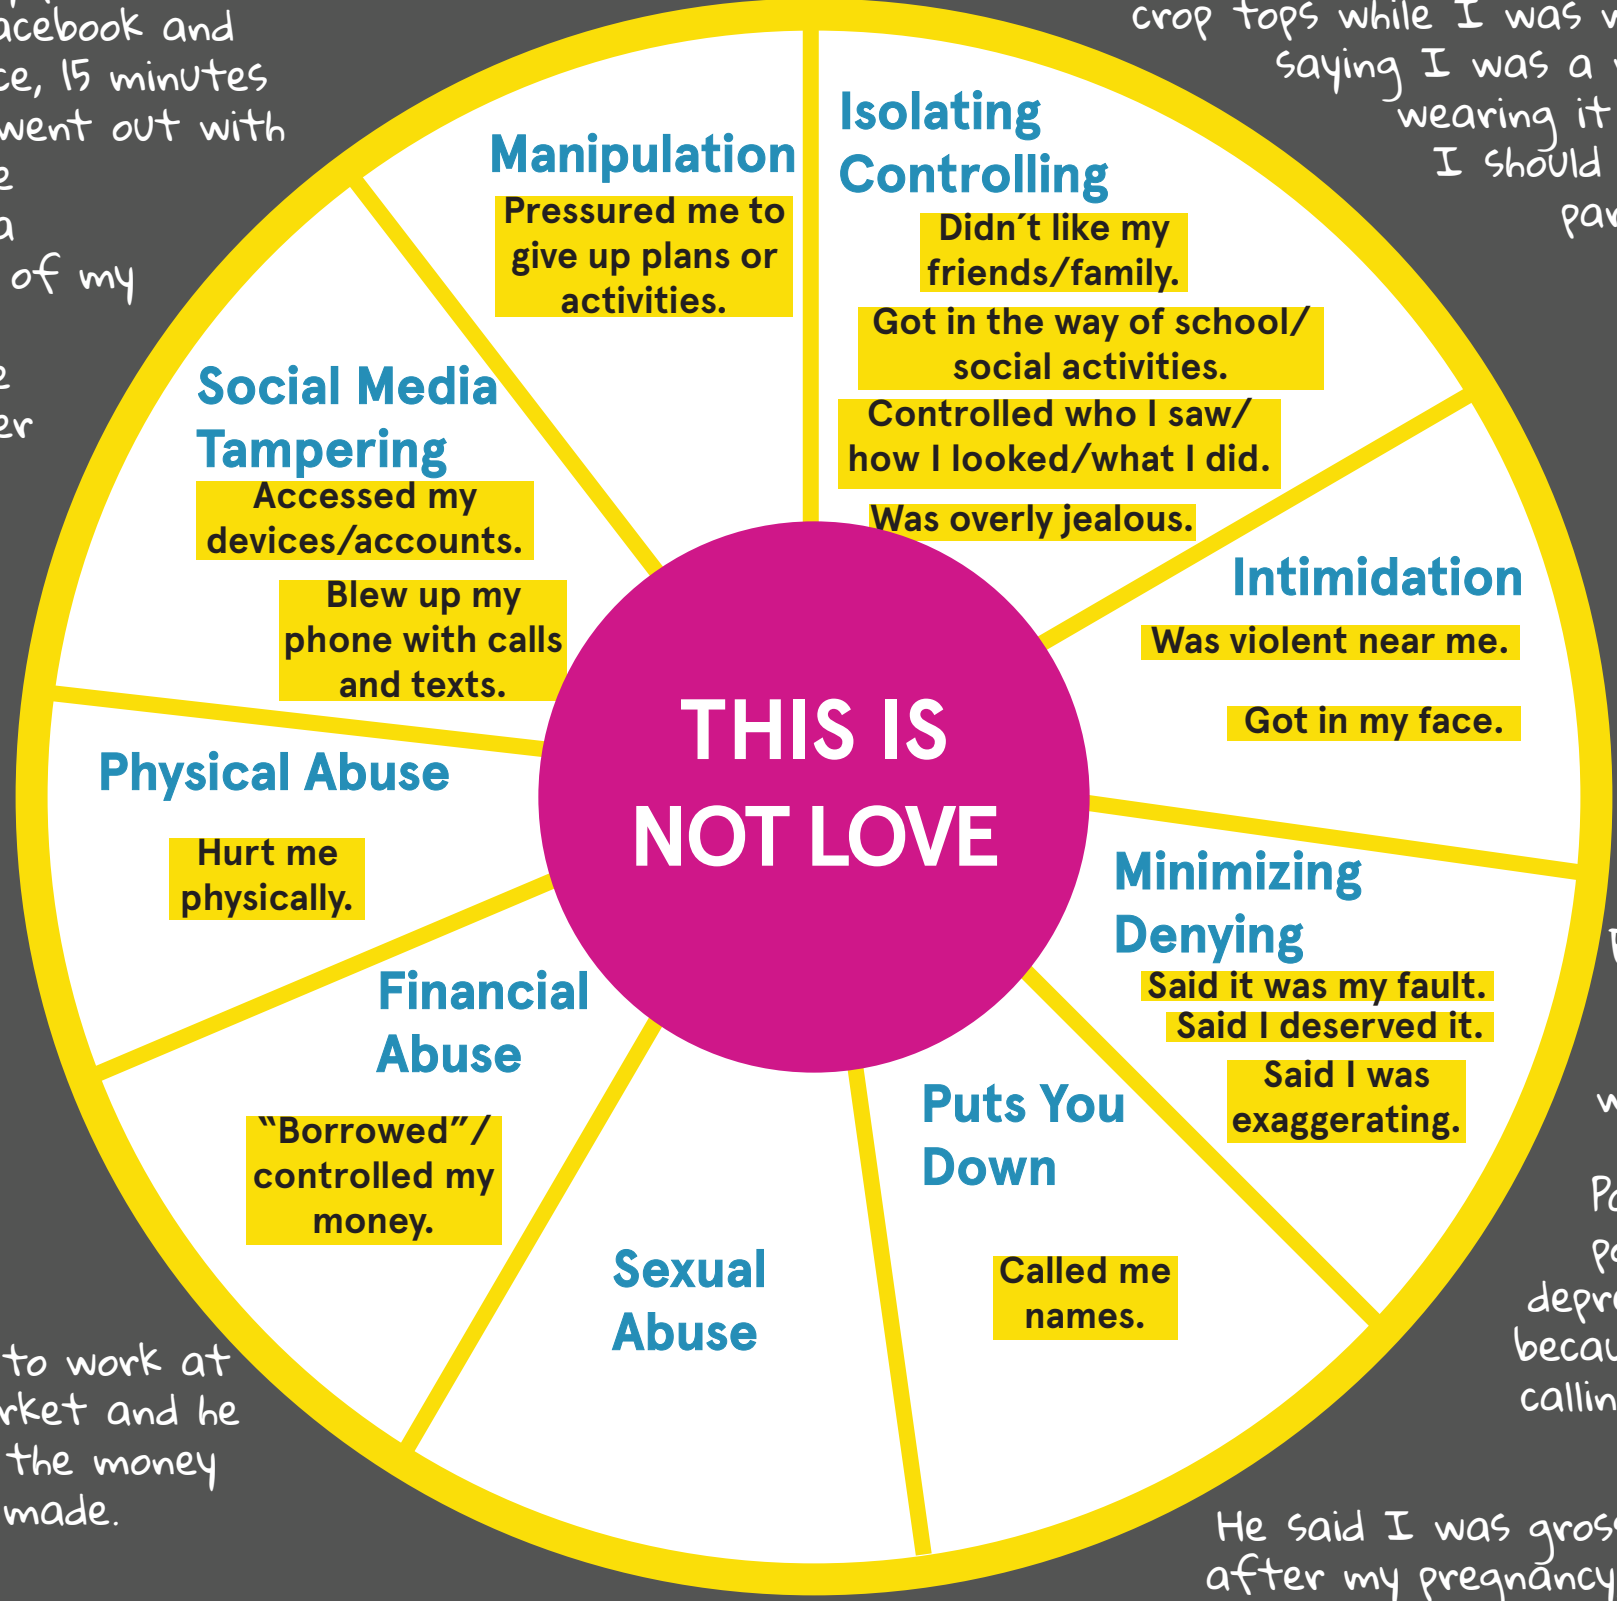

He grabbed me by the hair and threw me to the floor and kicked me.

We used to work at a fleamarket and he kept all the money we made.

One time we got back together and after we had sex he said he didn't love me or want me back, he just wanted my body.

He said I was gross after my pregnancy, and said I was a f bad mother.

Everything that happened was always my fault. Part of my postpartum depression was because of him calling me fat.
